Floor plan

The district

Stollár Béla utca sits in Lipótváros, the northern half of Budapest's 5th District, between the Parliament and Nyugati station. The area means Falk Miksa utca, the city's art-dealer street with its galleries and auction houses; Szalay, a pastry shop open since 1917; the Cirkó-Gejzír art cinema; the Vígszínház theatre on Szent István körút; and Olimpia park on the Danube embankment.

The building

A classic Lipótváros corner apartment building, with a rusticated stone ground floor, arched upper windows and an ornamented cornice, on a quiet street between Falk Miksa utca and Bajcsy-Zsilinszky út. A vaulted entrance hall with original cement tiles leads to a planted inner courtyard lined with wrought-iron galleries.
